About Parent Centers: Serving Families of Children with Disabilities

There are nearly 100 Parent Training and Information Centers (PTIs) and Community Parent Resource Centers (CPRCs) in the US and Territories.

These Centers perform a variety of direct services for children and youth with disabilities, families, professionals, and other organizations that support them.

Some of the Parent Centers' activities include:

- Working with families of infants, toddlers, children, and youth with disabilities, birth to 26
- Helping parents participate effectively in their children's education and development
- Partnering with professionals and policy-makers to improve outcomes for all children with disabilities

Parent Technical Assistance Centers (PTACs)

Center for Parent Information and Resources \(CPIR\) is the national central "Hub" of information and products created for the network of Parent Centers serving families of children with disabilities.

CPIR also houses the Native American and Military Families Resource Collections.

Learn more about Parent Centers at the CPIR website: <https://www.parentcenterhub.org/>

Regional PTACs work with the OSEP-funded network of Parent Centers.

Four (4) Regional Parent Technical Assistance Centers (RPTACs) help the OSEP-funded network of Parent Centers address administrative/management challenges and increase their capacities to provide information and training to families of children with disabilities.
